

Pizza Works Newsletter – August / September 2006

Dear Friends,

August is upon us and the start of school.

I remember my Kindy Teacher. She had a big smile, was very nice and showed us wonderful toys in the Kindy room. The first day no-one stayed in their chairs, ignored the teacher, and kept talking to their friends. The teacher explained that when the bell rang, it was not the fire alarm; it meant it was time to go out and play. The bell rang loudly, the teacher led us outside and we played and yelled and ran around top speed. A little later, the bell rang again and all the older kids ran back into the building. Where did everybody go? Someone running yelled "You gotta go inside!" Most of my class was still playing; I couldn't remember which door was my classroom. A man came out of the building and rounded up us kids into a group and took us back to the Kindy room. Some kids were missing; they had walked home to their Moms. One boy decided he didn't want to be in school and started to cry. The Kindy Teacher kept the outside door closed to keep the kids in the classroom.

Many years later, the first week hasn't changed much.

EDNA'S CORNER

Dear Friends of Pizza Works,

I can't believe that the summer is almost over and school is starting in just a couple of weeks. I am not ready. How about you?

I hope you had some fun this summer and got to take some time out of your busy schedules for family and friends.

For those of you who showed an interest in the whole wheat crust I am still working on bringing them in- I am having a small problem with my sales rep. please be patience, I haven't forgotten.

Jr. High, High School & College students don't forget when you come in to show us your student ID cards and we will give you 10% off your order no matter what it is. So treat the family to a pizza some night.

Have a great end of summer! Don't forget you can grill our pizzas for something different.

Edna
